DAILY CONSTITUTION.

MR. BEECHER ON MR. DAVIS.

The Pastor of Plymouth Church Denounces a Forgery.

Good Will Between the Sections.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 15, 1874.

To the Editor of the Courier-Journal: I have received a copy of the Montgomery (Ala.) News, containing an article by Col. Robert Tyler upon an alleged speech of mine concerning Jefferson Davis. That speech is forgery. Not only did I never utter or write any such miserable stuff, but the world knows that while many were clamoring for some sacrifice or victim, I everywhere and always opposed, with intense earnestness, the shedding of a drop of blood, and resisted, with all my might, the influences which sought the execution of Jefferson Davis. It is not the first shameful forgery upon me that has been circulated in the South and West. I am so heartily desirous of the re-establishment of good will between all who have been alienated, and I so much value the good will of my fellow-citizens of the South, that I step aside from my usual course and make a reply to this slander.

I am, very truly, yours, HENRY WARD BEECHER.

A BLOODY DUEL.

A Member of the Legislature from the Parish of St. James, and a Deputy Sheriff End a Quarrel With Shooting Irons. Both Parties Killed at the Third Fire.

(New Orleans Times.)

News reached the city last evening of a bloody and fatal duel fought yesterday in the parish of St. James, between Dr. Gray, a member of the legislature, and Mr. Richard, a deputy sheriff.

The duel was fought with Smith & Weston revolvers—distance of fifteen paces. Two harmless shots were fired, but at the third round both parties fell, mortally wounded. Each, it appears, received his antagonist's shot in the side, in about the same place. Dr. Gray expired first, Mr. Richard surviving only a few moments longer.

ORIGIN OF THE QUARREL.

We were unable to ascertain the full particulars of this bloody affair or its origin. It was stated to us, however, that sometime since a man named Johnson, proprietor and editor of the St. James Sentinel, got into a quarrel with a person, whose name we could not learn, connected with the St. James Republican. Both papers were republican journals, and the quarrel between the two related to the division then existing in the radical party. Johnson first whipped his antagonist with a stick.

No resistance being made and no satisfaction being demanded for this affront, Johnson was dissatisfied, and so sent a challenge to the Republican man. Exactly what because of that challenge we are as yet uninformed; at any rate there was no fight, but out of it came on a misunderstanding and quarrel between Johnson and Richard, ending in a challenge and an appointed time and place for a duel. In some unexplained way the contemplated fight got upon the tongue of rumor, and both parties were arrested and held to bail to keep the peace.

It was at this juncture Dr. Gray got mixed up in the matter. The story is told that he expressed himself freely respecting the courage of the parties, using terms which were regarded as grossly injurious and insulting by Richard, and for which he, Richard, resolved to be avenged. Being under bond on account of his contemplated duel with Johnson, it is said that Richard sought an opportunity to meet Dr. Gray on the public highway.

Here again the thread of events is lost to us; but finally the matter was brought to the bloody conclusion stated above.

Dr. Gray had earned some reputation as a surgeon in the parish, and it is also said of him that he passed through the ordeal of a legislative session without soiling his hands in any of the corruptions of that body. Respecting Mr. Richards, we were unable to learn anything beyond the fact of his belonging to a well known family and of his being a deputy sheriff.

The Bond Ring at Work.

A citizen of Savannah, at present on a visit North, writes us as follows from New York:

"Before I left Saratoga Springs I happened to be in company with some bankers at the Clarendon who hold some of the fraudulent Bullock and Kimball railroad bonds, and heard them say that they were determined to have the State recognize them if it costs half a million dollars. They stated that two hundred thousand dollars of that amount is already made up, and that if more is required to buy up the legislature it will be forthcoming. I am satisfied these men mean business, and that they have their agents now in Georgia who are attending to their bond interests, and who have engaged several broken down politicians, lawyers and defunct judges to forward their scheme. So you may rely upon it, the money market will be easier this winter in Georgia, particularly at Atlanta. Be assured if you do not put honest men in the legislature these "innocent holders" will carry their point. I think I can put my hand upon some of the men in Georgia who are engaged in this dishonest work, and when I return to Savannah I will have a talk with you on the subject."

Will not the tax payers of Georgia see to it that only good and true men—men who can be relied on to vote for the constitutional amendment forever prohibiting the recognition of the eight millions of bonds fraudulently and illegally issued by the Bullock banditti, are sent to represent them in the Legislature this winter? Now is the time for the people to speak through their primary meetings, and to make their will in this matter potent and effective by sending men to the Legislature in whose integrity they can implicitly rely.—Savannah News.

THE FRENCH ASSEMBLY.

Bazaine's Escape, and the Recognition of Spain Discussed.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

PARIS, August 21.—At a meeting of the permanent committee of the national assembly to-day M. Charibeaud Latour, minister of the interior, in reply to an inquiry by the left, promised that judicial proceedings in relation to the escape of Marshal Bazaine should be vigorously prosecuted.

Duke DeCazes, minister of foreign affairs, stated in regard to the recognition of Spain that the government was anxious to act in accordance with other powers, and would proceed in union with the British government which had communicated its view on the subject. No power had yet accomplished an act of recognition. The delay is caused by the question as to the exact form in which that step shall be taken.

The members of the extreme right expressed their disapproval of the conduct of the Duke DeCazes, but a large majority of the committee, including the republican members, sustained his course.

The German men-of-war Nautilus and Albatross sailed from Plymouth to-day for Spain.

Beecher-Tilton.

NEW YORK, August 21.—The Beecher-Tilton-Moulton refutations are busy. Columns are promised to-night.

A FATAL AFFAIR.

Shooting of Gen. H. M. Darnell by Albert Nall, and Death of the Latter, at Darnell's Landing—Three Killed in a Minute.

Memphis Avalanche, Aug. 18.]

For years the travel from West and Middle Tennessee and South Kentucky to Missouri and Northern Arkansas has been via Nall's ferry, which crosses the Mississippi river at Darnell's landing to point Pleasant of the opposite Missouri shore. This is the only available crossing point between Memphis and Cairo, and in consequence is largely patronized. Old 'Squire Robert Nall had the ferry for a term of years, but of late has turned it over to his son Albert.

Not long ago Gen. H. M. Darnell, from whom the landing takes its name, and who is a large planter, thought the ferry business a good instrument, and accordingly started one of his own in opposition to Nall's. The General employed two brothers named Coe and a young man named Cole to run his ferry for him. Both ferries have run along smoothly, the Nall ferry perhaps, doing the most business.

Last Saturday a large party of movers from this State came to the ferry for transportation. Mr. Nall succeeded in engaging passage, when one of the Coe brothers came over to Nall's boat and offered additional inducements for the movers to take his boat. This caused a quarrel, in the course of which Nall and Coe indulged in several harsh epithets. No blows were passed, however.

Gen. Darnell lives within a short distance of the ferry, and, hearing the wrangling, came down to the boat. When he learned what was the matter, he turned to Coe and said: "Why don't you kill him?" This led to an altercation between Nall and the General, which resulted in the former drawing a pistol and shooting the General, the ball striking in the left breast, near the heart, and ranging downwards. When the General fell, the man Cole, who had come up by that time, drew his pistol and firing brought young Nall to the ground. While on the ground, Nall raised his revolver, and taking a cool aim dropped Cole dead in his tracks. Then Coe, the man with whom he had first had a dispute, pulled his pistol and shooting Nall where he lay, killed him. This ended the tragedy. Mr. Nall and Cole killed and Gen. Darnell mortally wounded, and in all probability dead ere this.

General Darnell is a man of about 65 years of age, a man of large property and unbounded hospitality. He had a very vindictive temper, and when once aroused it was uncontrollable, and has figured in several deadly feuds. He leaves a larges family.

Mr. Albert Nall, as stated, was a son of Squire Robert Nall, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Lake county. He was a man of about thirty years and leaves a family. The Coe's and Cole were but little known.

Be A Man.

What a noble thing it is to be a man! The world is full of counterfeits. It is a grand thing to stand upright in defense of truth and principle. When persecution comes, some hide their faces until the storm passes by, others can be bought for a mess of potage. From such turn away. Stand by a friend. Show thyself a man. Do not turn away when danger threatens to overwhelm him or you.

Think for yourself. Read books and read men's faces. Remember the eye is the window of the soul. Use your eyes and hold your tongue, when men court favors.

Select some calling to make it honorable. When you have espoused a cause maintain it all hazards. Make up your mind to succeed by all means and good will; brush the difficulties away one at a time.

If opposition comes, meet it manfully. If success crowns your efforts, bear it quietly. Hasten not in a quarrel, but when you are compelled to accept an alternative, stand up and show yourself a full-grown man. Do your own thinking, keep your own secrets; worship no man for his wealth, or illustrious lineage. Fine feathers does not always make fine birds.

Do not live for yourself alone. The world needs reformers as much to-day as ever. If you have a new idea endeavor to develop it into words and deeds. Be sober; be honest; be true. Policy men are dangerous. They will sell you for money, or popularity—don't trust them. Wear but one face, and let that be an honest one.

Murat Halsted, while in London, saw the royal family at church. He describes the scene: "The services concluded, the royal party were escorted to their carriages by the dean, who is personally high in the favor of the Queen and her sons. The Prince of Wales presents the appearance of a stout and amiable middle-aged gentleman, large in the neck, and bald-headed. He was in plain citizen's dress, and wore a gorgeous button hole boquet. He has been accused of many excesses, but his face is pleasant and free from the evidence of vicious indulgences. He is very intelligent and agreeable-looking gentleman, and when one considers the frailties that he has had for being led into temptation, it must be confessed, I think that he has taken good care of himself. His appearance confirms his reputation here as that of a kindly and clever good fellow. The princess of Wales is the winner of hearts for the royal family. Her pensive beauty has faded but little, and her happy taste in dress and her airy grace excite general admiration. I should have noticed carefully how this fair princess was dressed, but her sister-in-law, the Crown Princess of England, came in view with the tall, bronzed soldier, with close clipped hair and tawny beard, the Crown Prince, her husband. The Prince and Princess of Wales a shaded festive. They were smiling and gracious, with, perhaps, one may say, a little of the glitter of the opera or fairy tale. The other couple were serious and plain, clothing dark, features grave, meaning business. A more soberly dressed and unpretending couple than the future Emperor and Empress of Germany were not in Dean Stanley's congregation that crowded the ancient abbey."

HALF OF A ROUND DANCE.—The other night, says Eli, I met one of those Columbia College law students at Saratoga, and asked him if he could give me half of a round dance with Miss Johnson.

"Why, yes, Mr. Perkins," he said, "take her," but recollecting his law knowledge, he caught hold of my coat sleeve, and made this casual remark:

"I give and bequeath to you, Mr. Eli Perkins, to have and to hold in trust, one-half of my right, title and claim, and my advantage, in a dance known as the 'Railroad Galop' with Amelia Johnson, with all hair, paniers, grasshopper bend, rings, tans, belt, hairpins, smelling bottle, with all the right and advantage therein; with full of power to have, hold, encircle, whirl, toss, wiggle, push, jam, squeeze, or otherwise use—except to smash, break, or otherwise damage—and with right to temporarily convey the said Amelia Johnson, her hair, rings, paniers, and other offsets heretofore or hereinafter mentioned, after such whirl, squeeze, wiggle, jam, etc., to her natural parents, now living, and without regard to any deed, or deeds or instruments, of whatever kind of nature soever, to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding."

Says a letter from Saratoga: Baggage porters about depots and hotels are a study. The disgust which they express for the big trunks and their evident inward determination to wreak vengeance upon them, is every day witnessed. One of the immense Saratoga trunks was hauled off the baggage-wagon here yesterday, when the smasher by his execrative consigned it to the depths of perdition. As he brought it to the door of the owner, she sweetly said, handing him an "inflation," "That is a very large trunk." He softened and replied, "What, that little feller; I could put it in my vest pocket.

Milton A. Candler to represent that district in the next congress. Mr. Candler is a native of Georgia, and a lawyer by profession, having been raised on the farm. He is a man who may be said to have reached the prime of life, or manhood, and is in the prime of his powers. He is small in stature, but a giant in energy, and one whose discovery we hope has been made. He is a public man who has been tried and found true to the interests of his constituents. He is a man who will be sure to go out of Fulton with his face where he is best known, and his light moral character are all the capital, his unimpeachable record, and his popularity at home will be worth to him. He will be sure to get a majority of the votes of the district, and will be found at his post, ready for combat with the corkscrews of the pointer-ites, when the time arrives. He

J. Lowry, Red Riding Hood; Miss DeWitt, Fancy; Lieut. R. J. Lowry, Zou-Zou; Master William Lowry, Old Woman; William Markham, Hump-backed Peddler. Col. BASE BALL.—A very spirited game of base ball between the "Castalias," under Captain Pemberton, and the "Young Leapers," under Captain Lillie, came off at the barrack's grounds on yesterday afternoon.

The weather was very warm, but the boys were full of life and played well.

The game was closely contested from first to last.

The "Young Leapers" came out victorious, by a score of 14 to 13.

This deserved to be ranked as one of the best games of the season.

Mr. Baldwin of the "Tellers" acted as umpire, and displayed fine knowledge of the game.

The two clubs left for home in fine spirits, and enjoyed together a social ride on the street cars.

ON THE RACK.

Thirty-nine Lashes Administrated to A Negro Thief at His own Request.

A Colored Brother Lays it on, and that Right Well.

FAIRBURN, Ga., August 20th 1874.

Editor's Constitution—Early this morning a report reached this place, that a thief of the colored persuasion from Clayton county, had stolen a gun from an old negro living near Mr. Hum's plantation a few miles from town. The old negro communicated the report shortly afterwards by appearing before justice Bartlett, to swear out a warrant.

The warrant was placed in the hands of one of our efficient officers, who in company with a couple of the "Austell grays" started in hot pursuit, and overhauled the flying fugitive about eight miles from where the crime was committed. He was brought to town and placed in the calaboose for safe keeping. After remaining there about a half an hour, he made a proposition to the old negro Noah Scott, from whom the gun was stolen, to settle the matter by received thirty-nine lashes on his bare back with a bugy trimmer, which was acceded to, and accordingly he was conducted into the bushes a short distant from the courthouse, and in the presence of a large number of the citizens of our town, was there severely whipped in the good old fashion style, by the colored brother Noah, who was very well edjudicated with it. After the whipping was all over, the thief tried to get out a warrant for Noah, but failed on the grounds of consenting to be whipped. DEXTER.

On motion it was

Resolved, 1. That the executive committee recommend elections to be held in every militia district of the county on Friday the 11th day of September for a member to the legislature and county officers, and that all the votes polled at the different precincts be sent up to the executive committee, which meets at Decatur, at 10 o'clock on Saturday, the succeeding day, for the purpose of consolidating and counting the votes, and that the candidate receiving the largest number of votes for any office shall be declared regularly nominated.

Resolved, That we request the publication of these proceedings in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

C. F. AKERS, Chairman.
JAMES MOORE, Secretary.

Rev. Dr. Isaac M. Wise.

On the 18th inst. the corner stone of the new Jewish temple was layed at Nashville, Tennessee, with imposing ceremonies. Rev. Dr. Wise, the eloquent and erudite Rabbi, who lectured last night, was present and delivered a beautiful and appropriate address. He said, among other things, that the leading principle of Judaism is the eternal progression of humanity, and that shall be the distinguishing feature of the congregation which will worship in this house. Most nations have had their golden days in the ages of the past, but the golden days of Israel are in the dim future—in the progress of the human race. All science is progressive; nothing stands still. Truth is progressive, and, therefore, Israel proclaims that there is no end to truth. It is impossible to predict what the human family will know ten thousand years hence.

What is grace? It is a general term, embracing all the virtues known to mankind. We say that God is gracious—that God is grace. The advancement of grace in the human family is the advancement of justice, of mercy, of freedom, of prosperity, of happiness. The advancement of God's grace means the elevation of the human family.

Dr. Wise closed his interesting address by hoping that all present might live to see the new temple erected and worship in it for many years.

At night a banquet was given in his honor at the Maxwell House. Around the festive board Jews and Gentiles mingled together and discussed one of those elegant collations which have given the Maxwell such an enviable reputation. Everybody seemed bent on indulging his palate with the choice edibles and quaffing the delicious wines, and a merry popping of corks was kept up during the evening. When supper was finished and the guests began to engage in a pleasant conversation, the Rev. Dr. Kalish arose and said he wished to say something concerning their distinguished visitor. He had been the first man of his race to travel from city to city and preach reform. If he attempted to tell them all that Dr. Wise had done he would have to take the whole night, and then he could not tell them everything. He was the master spirit, the prime mover in every enterprise looking to the elevation of his people. He wanted all to drink to the health of their honored guest. (Applause.)

Dr. Wise, upon being loudly called for, responded in a very happy manner. He had been said that when Adam and Eve were turned out of Paradise no longer existed, but he thought the scene before him was a Paradise. He wanted to return thanks for the kind manner in which he had been treated during his visit here.

He closed amidst prolonged applause.

After the conclusion of the speeches D. Weil, upon the part of the congregation, presented Rabbi Wise with a massive gold-headed cane. This token of respect was appropriately responded to by the reverend Doctor.

Revival of Trade.

Our exchanges continue to speak hopefully of the autumn trade, and the croakers happily appear to have finally disappeared with their next friends, the grasshoppers.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says:

"We mentioned yesterday that one of the symptoms of the revival of trade generally was the increase in the volume of sales of iron in the last month. This evidence is corroborated by what we learn in regard to some of the agricultural implement and machine makers. Thus we hear of several reaper factories that are notable to fill the orders that are now pouring in upon them. The movement of the grangers to buy by the wholesale, and to compel manufacturers to sell at low prices only, had the effect of alarming some of them so that they reduced their scale of operations, and the supply of many kinds of agricultural machines and implements has been so reduced that it is not equal to the present demand. We may therefore expect increased activity in this and cognate lines of business."

HALL OF MAGENTA LODGE, No. 1—August 20, 1874.—At a meeting of Magenta Lodge, No. 1, I. O. R. G. R., under head of "good of the order," the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of three (who are members of the Knights of Jericho and Good Templars) be appointed to communicate with all the lodges in the city, with a view to appointing a temperance meeting, composed of the orders and all others favorable to the meeting, in their efforts for the welfare of the cause of humanity; and that each lodge be requested to send from three to five delegates to a preliminary meeting for the purpose of making arrangements.

Resolved, That said preliminary meeting be held in Good Templars' Hall, on Saturday, 29th instant, at 8½ P. M.

Messrs. J. A. Lafontaine, J. F. Walker and W. J. Warlick were appointed on the above named committee.

THE lumber trade has been so very dull that the lumber producers have for some time been perfecting arrangements to reduce production. The lumbermen of the lake and St. Lawrence region, at their recent convention at Ottawa, determined to curtail the manufacture and shipment of lumber one-half—this reduction to continue during the approaching winter. The curtailment applies to square timber as well as to other lumber, and the adoption of a similar course is to be urged upon all lumbermen in the United States.

THE CORN "CORNER" SETTLEMENTS.—The arbitration committee of the board of trade have decided that the outstanding contracts on the July corn "corner"—in dispute—should be settled at 68 cents instead of 80 cents, as they were unable to obtain satisfactory evidence of the sale reported on the last day of July of 250,000 bushels at that figure. The decision is said to satisfy all but the promoters of the "corner," whose profits will thus prove to be a somewhat doubtful quantity.—New York Bulletin.

THE YOUNG MEN'S LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

Lecture by Dr. Isaac M. Wise.

Dr. Isaac M. Wise, of Cincinnati, lectured last evening at DeGive's Opera House in the interest of the Young Men's Library Association. The distinguished gentleman was greeted by a fine audience, in which there was a large proportion of our Hebrew friends, and kept them interested for over an hour in his admirable discourse. The stage was occupied by Mr. Flynn, the president of the association, and the lecture committee.

Mr. Wise selected for his subject, "The influence of the Jewish religious idea upon the civilization of the world," and gave a vast amount of historical information in a manner that divested it completely of any thing like dry detail. His delivery is easy and graceful, and a slight foreign accent in his voice, is rather an attraction than otherwise.

The lecture commenced back in the earliest ages of the world, and traced this religious influence down. He said the Egyptenites, the kings of Egypt instituted the first libraries, and thus educated their people more than by schools. The largest library in the word was commenced under one of these monarchs. The Hebrew Scriptures were translated into Greek and thus made its way into Egypt. It was the only Grecian literature that did find its way into Egypt, and did so through its Religious idea. Vast numbers of Israelites emigrated at this time into Egypt, and subsequently became very influential. We have now fragments of their writing and poetry, such as the apocalypse. These philosophers and poets found their exponent in Philo. With the translation of the Bible the religious idea progressed westward to Greece. In the time of Cæsar the Israelites exercised considerable influence, even in Rome. After Cæsar, education was continued from Paris line and the East to the city, and to such extent that, subsequently, by decree of Tiberius, the priests were driven out of the place, and 4,000 Jews were sent to the isle of Sardinia. Thus was the ground prepared upon which christianity arose. Under the reign of Titus, Jerusalem was destroyed, and the people scattered and carried off. Only the poorer classes, who were hidden in the forests and the mountains and could not be found, were left behind, but when the people were carried off, they left behind them their Bible as a living word. Two peculiar facts may be noticed here. First, thousands of ancient Anglo-Saxon and German words are found in the Hebrew. These are generally agricultural terms and the names of animals. Also the common and criminal law, even of the present day is very similar to the old law of Palestine. The Jews brought agriculture, the culture of the grape, language, law and religion to western Europe. Again numbers settled in Arabia, and there in a country, which, of itself, had absolutely no civilization before, we see Mahomet. Present Islamism is from Rabbnical Judaism.

The lecturer went on to describe the middle ages and the darkness that overspread the world at that time. He claimed that while one side of the world was buried in night, a sun was rising on the other side. This sun was the Jewish civilization. The greatness of the reformation he attributed to the Jews, who had spread over Europe. In conclusion the doctor said that this civilization would not stop here. As long as man lives he has a history. If man does not stop thinking there will be no end of the progress of ideas. It is as infinite as the Deity. The Jew of to-day is not the Jew of two hundred years ago. Neither is the christian of to-day the same as his grandfather. Judging the future by the past, the Jewish civilization has yet something to accomplish.

The lecturer was frequently applauded, and listened to with evident pleasure. We regret that we are able to give so little of it. Dr. Wise is a lecturer whose equal has rarely appeared before an Atlanta audience.

THE "RED MEN."

Anniversary of Festivities at Ponce de Leon Springs.

The Independent Order of Red Men gave their first anniversary festival yesterday at Ponce de Leon springs. Thogrand sachem, prophet, warriors and braves, made their appearance on our streets about nine o'clock in the morning, and as they were in full regalia, they created a decided sensation. Everything appertaining to the Indian was complete excepting the paint, while tommahawks, hatchets, and other instruments of war and of torture (made out of wood) abounded in profusion. The dress of the Indians was as variegated as their physiognomies, and was composed mainly of feathers, window curtain calico, cambric, and tin buttons. The costumes were cut according to the most recent Indian style. The procession, in which there were some thirty odd, marched through Broad, Marietta, and Whitehall streets, preceded by the band, and followed by a miscellaneous crowd of whites and blacks. The procession took the street cars, and reached the spring about 10, A. M., where the warriors destroyed about a barrel, probably in the absence of the pipe of peace and marched up to the dancing platform. A considerable number of ladies were found collected there who were not afraid of Indians, and the festivities of the day were opened with dancing. The crowd received constant additions from the city, so that by afternoon a very large number were on the grounds. A good basket dinner was served up at the proper time, upon which the Red Men went to work with an industry rarely seen in a civilized Indian.

At four P. M. the "green corn dance" came off. This dance is purely Indian, and consists in a series of excruciating attitudes, and painful steps. It was successfully achieved, however, to the admiration of all of the spectators. Among the most savage Indians on the ground we may mention Alderman McDuffie, Miles Turpin, and Dr. James D. Collins. The day passed off pleasantly to all. There was no scalping, war whooping or other old pastimes, but the Indians behaved themselves remarkably well. Late in the afternoon all returned to the city, full of fun and highly elated. The lodge now numbers some fifty members, and is rapidly gaining. If it continues to produce such amiable Indians we wish it much success.

ATTENTION, LUCY COBB INSTITUTE, MADAME SOSNOWSKI'S SELECT SCHOOL AND OTHER SCHOOLS OF ATHENS.—The Georgia State Fair offers a premium of fifty dollars for the "best display of paintings, drawings, etc., by the pupils of any school or college." Will you not contend for this premium? Certainly, you ought; for not only would it be a source of interest to both teachers and pupils, but would prove a fine advertisement for your schools, especially if successful; and if an effort is made, we have no doubt but that the prize will be awarded to some one of our female schools. FASHIONS AT SARATOGA.

How they Dress at the Famous Watering Place.

Marie Louisa Valleo Preaches on Colors and Music—The Prima Donna Astonishes Eli Perkins—Mixed Toilets.

[N. Y. Sun.]

SARATOGA, August 12.—Last evening I had a long talk with the belle of the States about good clothes. As the young lady is pretty well known in America, I suppose it is not indelicate to tell you that her name is Miss Clara Louisa Kellogg. Miss Kellogg is famous for being one of the most correctly dressed young ladies in America. So as the thousands of young ladies promenaded in their ceaseless tramp up and down the balcony and through the broad halls, we held a running talk on the subject of ladies' dresses.

The first young lady to pass was Miss ——, of Philadelphia, a short, blonde young lady, dressed in a black dress with low neck and short sleeves.

"There, Miss Kellogg, how about that toilet?" I asked, pointing to the short, thin, pale young lady in black.

"That toilet is all wrong," replied Miss Kellogg. "In the first place a short young lady should never wear a low neck, especially with a black dress. The low neck only cuts the body in pieces. It breaks the line. Now look at her there," continued Miss Kellogg, "as she stands away across the room against the white wall. You can see the dress, but no neck or arms. In fact the effect is an empty dress hung up against the wall. Now, if she stood against a dark wall you would see what would look like a big doll's head and arms hung on a nail. The dress would disappear. If a person wears a low neck, she should have her dress nearly the color of the neck, doing away with this terrible contrast, and preventing the sharp line around the neck. Then the neck should be filled in white illusion or pale gauze to soften the line between the skin and the dress. Gauze or lace shades the white of the neck and the brown of the dress and makes an accord, not a harsh note."

"But we are talking about colors, Miss Kellogg, not music," I suggested.

"Yes, but the relations between colors and music—between the eight notes of the scale and the eight colors of the rainbow (I call white a color) are wonderful. We have the eight notes arranged in octaves above and below. White in color corresponds to the highest note in music, and black to the low bass. We raise an octave in music by putting in more white (that is by diluting) and when we have raised several octaves the red becomes pink, the yellow straw color, and the dark green becomes pea-green."

THE SYMPHONIES.

"But how about the symphonies in music and colors?" I asked.

"Ah! there we have my idea beautifully illustrated," exclaimed Miss Kellogg enthusiastically. "When I mix several crude notes from different octaves I produce a symphony or harmony. When you mix several crude colors you have a symphony of one color. Mix blue and red and you have a symphony—you have maroon; mix blue and yellow and you have a symphony—green; mix red and white and you have a symphony—pink."

Just then a young lady from Louisville, Ky., passed by all dressed in red and blue and yellow and white. The Louisville young ladies all run to bright colors.

"There!" continued Miss Kellogg, "that young lady is wearing the crude notes of the natural scale. No symphony—no harmony—not even a chord. How much more agreeable to the cultivated eye all these colors would be if they were mixed together. Mix the red and yellow, and blue and white, in proper proportions and she could have the lovely pongee, or slate, or dove color, or Bismarck brown or sage green—all lovely symphonies."

A little child now struck a few notes on the piano.

"See that child is playing red and blue and yellow!" exclaimed the prima donna, "children and savages like the crude eight notes and the crude eight colors unmixed and distinct. Educate them, and they like symphonies in music and color. Sharp lines disappear as they do in the rainbow, or as they do in the golden spring of the marble, each melting into the other, and stealing a little of the other. Trees grow thin at the edge, and melt into the sky, and even the sharp edges of a crag or house steal a little of the grayness from nature."

A tall lady from Portland now passed by with a little short man from Boston.

A DISCORD.

"That is a discord," continued Miss Kellogg, fixing her eyes on the illmated pair. "Why will tall women forever get with little men like Parepa and Rosa? Why will a yellow-haired girl wear a blue dress? Why will a sandy old man dye his moustache black? Why will the ashy pale woman wear red? Why will the red-faced woman wear white? Why —why! why? why!! Mr. Perkins?"

"I will give it up, Miss Kellogg," I said, "I never could answer a conundrum."

"I know," continued the prima donna; "it is because they have no eyes or ears. The golden-haired girl should wear a golden comb, she of the raven hair black, and she of the silver-hair white. Let there be no discord; and if there is a bony neck like a few badly written notes in a piece of music, cover it up. Cover up the bones; and if you weigh a ton, don't wear a low-neck dress and look as if you weighed a ton and a half."

"Well, what shall I tell all the young ladies for you, Miss Kellogg?" I asked.

"Tell them to wear symphonies in color. If they are pale, wear a light symphony; if they are ruddy, wear a dark symphony; but always let the symphony in the dress harmonize with the symphony which God has made in her of the lily face and the golden hair, in her of the ashy, sandy face and gray hair, and in her of the dark brunette face and the black hair."

Then I went right up to my room, washed the dye out of my mustache, took off my blue necktie, buff vest and checked trowser, and when I came down all dressed—hat, coat, vest and trowsers—in dark mulberry, Miss Kellogg said I was the best looking man in Saratoga, barring Henry Bergh.

It is a growing fact, that the Bean Stone Force Pump, manufactured by Nichols & Treadwell, cannot be spoken of too highly, as it undoubtedly possesses ingenuity in its power of handling water superior to other pumps, having a direct power on the volume of water, either on the up or down motion of the handle. The water is pure. Very natural it should be, as there is no friction in connection with iron to create a necrotic or rust. They are coming into general use very fast, and much admired for working capacity by the many who are using them. It is a novelty, and all should call and see how easily the Bean Pump makes and work of handling water one-third easier than any other pump in the world.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Many who are suffering from the effects of the warm weather and are debilitated, are advised by physicians to take moderate amounts of whisky two or three times during the day. In a little while those who adopt this advice frequently increase the number of "drinks," and in time become confirmed inebriates. A beverage which will not create thirst for intoxicating liquors, and which is intended especially for the benefit of debilitated persons, whether at home or abroad, is Dr. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic. Containing the juices of many medicinal herbs, this preparation does not create an appetite for the intoxicating cup. The nourishing and the life-supporting properties of many valuable natural productions contained in it and well known to medical men have a most strengthening influence. A single bottle of the Tonic will demonstrate its valuable qualities. For debility arising from sickness, over exertion or from any cause whatever, a wine-glassful of Sea Weed Tonic taken after meals will strengthen the stomach and create an appetite for wholesome food. To all who are about leaving their homes, we desire to say that the excellent effects of Dr. Schenck's seasonable remedies, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, are particularly evident when taken by those who are injuriously affected by a change of water and diet. No person should leave home without taking a supply of these safeguards along. For sale by all Druggists. aug2—deod1m

RIPE WHEAT!

We bent to-day o'er a coffined form,
And our tears fell softly down;
We looked our last on the aged face,
With its locks of peace, its patient grace,
And hair like a silver crown.

We touched our own to the clay-cold hands,
From life's long labor at rest;
And among the blossoms white and sweet
We noted a bunch of golden wheat,
Clasped close to the silent breast.

The blossoms whispered of fadeless bloom,
Of a land where fall no tears;
The ripe wheat told of toil and care,
The patient waiting, the trusting care,
The garnered good of the years.

We know not what works her hands had found,
What rugged place her feet;
What cross was hers, what blackness of night;
We saw but the peace, the blossoms white,
And the bunch of ripened wheat.

DR. CALHOUN'S LIVER PILLS.

I AM engaged in the manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last 35 years, and has taken precedence over all other Family preparations by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supercede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incidental to this climate. With but few exceptions they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from druggists, merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yield readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.

DADE COAL!
CHEAP COAL
—FOR THE—
PEOPLE OF ATLANTA, AND ALL CONSUMERS.

I EXPECT to keep constantly on hand a supply of first-rate Lump Coal from the "Dade Mines," the only GEORGIA COAL in the MARKET, which I will sell at
'TWENTY CENTS'
per bushel by CAR LOAD, FOR CASH.
The Dade Coal has an advantage of nearly Five Cents per Bushel
in less freight, than the Coal Creek Coal, on account of the distance from the respective mines. It is this advantage (and "not the inferiority," of the Coal, as view of the Coals will show) that enables me to sell it
At So Low a Rate.
I will guarantee the "Dade Coal," to be as good as any in the market, and have no doubt that I can give my old customers, and all new ones satisfaction.

OPIUM ANTIDOTE.
Stop, Read, Reflect and Act Before it is too Late!
Dr. S. B. Collins' Painless
OPIUM ANTIDOTE
Is a perfect and painless cure for
The Habitual use of Opium, in any of its forms, whether as
MORPHINE,
LAUDANUM,
ELIXIR, or GUM OPIUM
It Positively Produces a Permanen Cure.

IT is strange yet true, that as a rule it is the brightest intellects, the best members of society become addicted to this diseased appetite. A habit which makes them slaves, beclouds their minds, ruins their dispositions, and gives them in their more natural moments a hatred of self as well as a feeling that everybody despises them—to such an extent that society has no charms. But thanks to the Giver of all good, this morbid, terrible habit, and degraded condition, as well as all of the desire and feeling for opiates in any form is soon removed by this remarkable antidote, entirely so, and the weakened body and mind are invigorated, given renewed health until love and hope take the place of despondency and doubt. Though you may not be afflicted with the habit of using MORPHINE, LAUDANUM, or other forms of OPIUM, some friend may be, and you know it not, therefore let me ask you, in the name of suffering humanity to pass this on. By so doing you may reap the reward of those who do good. DELAY NOT.
